A July homecoming for St. Andrew's is looking realistic as construction on our expansion progresses.

The foundation has been poured, the metal forms for the concrete have been removed, and the shape of things to come is more evident. The SVSS construction subcommittee has been reviewing brick mixes, granite, cast stone and millwork samples. Our architect, Ethan Anthony of HDB/Cram, will be back in Denver mid-November to confirm our selections.

Although the site is a construction zone, and therefore not safe for unsupervised visits, we encourage you to drive by and see what changes have occurred. The best views are from the parking lot to the north and the alley behind the church. SVSS will be offering "Hard Hat Tours" for small groups in the coming months – please watch for details.

In addition to the construction subcommittee's weekly meetings, the full SVSS committee continues to meet monthly to review progress and make decisions. We invite you to view photos of the project on the bulletin board in Holy Redeemer's parish hall. As always, the SVSS committee is happy to answer any questions you may have – just ask – Roger Kilgore, Barbara Becker, Ben Cordova, Cyn Croasdaile, Judie James, Tim Krueger, Betty Luce, Andy Seelaus.
